The PGH Medical Foundation, Inc. (PGHMFI) under The "New Normal"

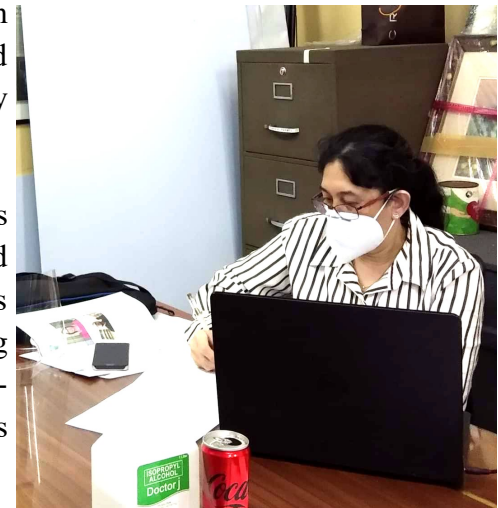

The surge of the Covid-19 pandemic in the year 2020 was considered the "worst year" in the 21st century. It paralyzed the world's economy that affected international and local markets with the crucial implementation of the Enhanced Community Quarantine (ECQ) and issues about mental health and other restrictive social challenges experienced by the population.

The so called "New Normal" as an aftermath of the pandemic which was characterized by dramatic economic, cultural and social transformation resulted in changes in the lives of people as a whole. Political as well as business leaders all over the world addressed the Covid-19 pandemic by developing and setting strategies to combat and recover from the overall economic losses, online schooling for students, resumption of business operation related to basic commodities and the enhancement of health services.

The lifting of restriction on people's mobility however, highlighted the critical need for a more rigorous medical services to address the continuous demand to control the disease from further spreading. Thus, Covid-19 facilities are on call 24/7 to address the need.

With the Philippine General Hospital (PGH) having been designated as the Covid-19 Referral Center and the subsequent designation of the PGH Medical Foundation, Inc. (PGHMFI) as the sole custodian of Covid Funds, these two institutions have been working hand in hand in addressing the emergency.

The PGHMFI did its active part that aside from exploring partnership with other socio-civic minded institutions, its staff were ever present and coordinating with PGH in providing the necessary support by adopting a reasonable working arrangement in complete observance however of health protocols as wearing of mask and social distancing.

MESSAGES

THE WIND BENEATH OUR WINGS

Greetings from the PGH Medical Foundation Inc. As we bring to a close a gruesome chapter in our history, the Covid-19 Pandemic, we start our "New Normal" functions as the Foundation.

When the Philippine General Hospital was designated as a Main Covid Referral Hospital, we had to close the main Hospital and concentrated on Covid Patients. The PGHMF, which was designated as the main soliciting organization for Covid Donations by both the UP Manila and the PGH, we focused our attention to Covid.

I was amazed at the generosity of the people, both rich and poor, helping the sick in whatever way they could. We in the PGHMF made sure we could take care, not only of our patients, but our Frontliners who take care of the patients.

We dedicate this issue to the multitude of donors and benefactors who helped us in overcoming the difficulties during these trying times.

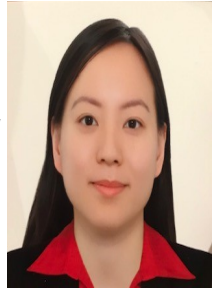

Telesforo E. Gana Jr. M.D.
Chairman and President

We are now in the midst of the challenges brought about by this crisis - The Covid 19 pandemic. It is indeed amazing how our citizenry have been working hand in hand to overcome the difficulties we are experiencing. The PGH Medical Foundation Inc. is one with all in this challenge.

The overwhelming assistance given by the various sectors of society is non-pariel; each one doing their part - the government, the private sectors, even individuals in their minute capacity are extending their all-out support. All these are possible with the blessing and grace of our Lord, who will not allow evil to prevail. All we have to do is to continue doing our part to finally end this pandemic.

With God's provision and protection, we shall win!

Stepping Up

Not long after the World Health Organization (WHO) declared the Covid-19 pandemic, difficult times and challenges were already being experienced by everybody, especially health care personnel working in the front lines. Physical, mental and emotional stress was truly overwhelming. The constant revisions in the hospital protocol and physical changes that were necessary for the proper management of patients were big challenges to the hospital staff as well as to the public health authorities.

The pandemic has clearly revealed the gasps in the country's health care system. It has therefore become imperative to look closely on how we can improve things in our own workplace and in the communities, using the lessons learned in the global public health emergency. The need for health workers to undergo constant training and education in their respective fields become evident. Wellness programs are now at the forefront to help address immediate health concerns as well as in helping improve the health personnel readiness in dealing with daily challenges in the workplace and in the future emergencies. Likewise a need to redesign the work environment especially medical facilities to provide better ventilation system, improve work flows and processes, and efficient use of resources.

Coordination and collaboration with all stakeholders in the healthcare system must be strengthened. Everybody has a role- the public, community healthcare workers, medical facilities, specialists, public health authorities, government officials- in making sure that the lessons learned in this pandemic will not be wasted and will be used to address the glaring inefficiencies in the system. Public health professionals should work hand-in-hand with hospital-based health workers for a seamless approach in providing emergency health services.

Respect and compassion for each other must be cultivated. (There is no room for silos in the medical communities). The realities of the pandemic has shown us that we all need each other to get through a catastrophic emergency. More importantly, working together as teams at different levels in our daily practice can only mean better working conditions and better services for our patients.

As we step back and assess the impact of this on-going health crisis in our society, we are forced to reflect on our individual roles to our families, communities, and workplaces; and how we can make things a little better for our loved ones and the people we serve.

There is no going back to how things used to be. That much is clear for the frontline personnel in the emergency department of the Philippine General Hospital.

In this time of pandemic, the PGH Human Milk Bank stood by its pledge and goal to provide utmost support to different local units. The public has been made aware of its existence that allowed several individuals to come and ask for pasteurized breast milk for babies whose mothers are currently admitted due to Covid and therefore unable to nurse their babies. Several Local Health Units have likewise approach the Milk Bank for support to their constituents whose mothers are placed in quarantine facilities. This is to ensure that all babies, despite the current crisis are given optimum nutrition and not compromising the well-being of all newborn babies.

Human Milk Bank - Pasteurize Breast Milk

The Covid-19 pandemic has inevitably resulted in an increased demand for breastmilk. The PGH Human Milk Bank Unit has been supplying milk not only to premature and sick babies but also those born to severe Covid or critically ill mothers who are unable to express breast milk. Furthermore, when these babies are sent home ahead of their sick mothers, the Unit provides their breast milk for home consumption. Fortunately, breast milk support groups as well as individual donors have constantly supply breast milk to our Unit.

The PGH Medical Foundation helped a group of concerned individuals to organized donation drives for Milk Bank Labeling System that would ensure safe and quality breast milk as well as its proper inventory.

The PGH Human Milk Bank Unit continues to promote and advocate for continues breastfeeding, lactation support and breast milk donations that would give a healthy start of life, help sick babies and to provide better future for Filipino children.

Needless to say, there is a constant need for breast milk, financial donors, as well as volunteers for equipment such as chlorine sterilizing tablets and printer paper roll which are essential for the Unit's operation. Through The Foundation and its generous donors a fully operational lactation unit and Milk Bank is now established.

These past 2 years, our country faced an unprecedented challenge not only for our health workers, but also for everyone in the PGH organization working to support the needs of our patients and colleagues.

As soon as we posted the call for donations for PPE, supplies, cash and even food packs, we have received countless calls and messages from those who would like to help out. Truly, compassion, collaboration, and empathy were the values that prevailed during this pandemic.

We are beyond grateful to the generous individuals and institutions who provided logistical support, PPEs, medical equipment, food and supplies to our frontline workers.

While in-kind donations gave PGH exactly what was needed at that crucial time, donations in cash allowed us the flexibility to manage our resources in terms of space, and urgency of purchase. Fortunately, the total cash donations during this pandemic has surpassed all other donation amounts in the past years. With this influx of blessing comes greater accountability to all, as we all bear the responsibility to ensure the correct utilization of these funds.

As we move on to the new normal, and rediscover the new meaning of life and community, we pray that the same outpouring of support for PGH will be present as the days go by, as we continue to strive to save more lives and help more patients.

While government financial support helps sustain the operations of PGH, it is through the help of generous donors that we are able to fast track upgrades of PGH's facilities, providing better services, and more efficient treatments for our patients.

Being a Covid referral facility allowed PGH to be on the frontlines of not only treatment, but of highly dynamic clinical research. These studies and clinical developments will undoubtedly place PGH as one of the best hospitals in Asia, a dream that we all share with our PGH Director, Dr. Gerardo Legaspi. A dream that has become closer to reality because of all your support.
